

Collaborate for Impact

“At Collaborative Real Estate, we consider it our purpose to deliver and operate facilities that equip partnerships with the maximum opportunity to achieve meaningful and productive engagement. Being a Community Partner with UIDP has provided us with the capability to have critical conversations with key players while simultaneously conducting invaluable customer discovery.”

UIDP Community Partners

Community Partners represent the best within their market segment and include organizations from real estate, construction, design, consulting, government affairs, talent acquisition, research intelligence, and more.

Community Partners are organizations whose mission and work are complementary to UIDP. They possess expertise that benefits our members and they work in concert with UIDP’s efforts to develop and disseminate strategies addressing common barriers to university-industry collaboration. Community Partners’ highly visible engagement with UIDP can help open the door to top-tier universities and industries around the world, creating the opportunity for transformative partnerships.

UIDP works closely with our Community Partners to highlight their advancements and unique tools in ways that matter to our partners. We value our Community Partners and the role they play in supporting the expansive work of the UIDP membership. Together, we are collaborating for impact. UIDP’s Community Partners are leaders in their areas of expertise, and for that reason we collaborate with a single partner in each focus area to ensure a meaningful, mutually beneficial partnership.
