UIDP Community Partners

Community Partners represent the best within their market segment and include organizations from real estate, construction, design, consulting, government affairs, talent acquisition, research intelligence, and more.

Community Partners are organizations whose mission and work are complementary to UIDP. They possess expertise that benefits our members and they work in concert with UIDP's efforts to develop and disseminate strategies addressing common barriers to university-industry collaboration. Community Partners' highly visible engagement with UIDP can help open the door to top-tier universities and industries around the world, creating the opportunity for transformative partnerships.

"Being a UIDP community partner has allowed TUFF to support efforts for UIDP to be recognized as a problem solving organization and innovator relative to university-industry collaboration. In 2022, TUFF celebrated our 40th anniversary by building new university and industry relationships across the country because of our community partner alliance with UIDP. Thanks to Tony, the UIDP staff and the UIDP membership for the opportunity to serve beside you as we strengthen local innovation ecosystems."
